

first of all , eric has been stalking me all year and has been stalking one of my partners [for those who dont know or havent seen the drive yet and are just following him , ill be calling my partner "goober" in this for privacy] as well for possibly even longer than he has been stalking me for . i wont get into this completely , nor will i debunk the drive in its entirety as goober's past relationship with eric is their private business and i wont be sharing anything without their permission , but on november 4th , eric dropped a callout drive on me and my partner accusing us of repeated life-ruining stalking and harassment that has left him traumatized and sick . some of erics claims regarding my partner are straight up false , while some made assumptions and over exaggerate things . during the whole part abt my partner , which makes up most of the drive , he makes it a point to insult them multiple times [even calling them a cunt at one point] and painting them out to be some sort of horrible manipulative abusive monster who traumatized him for life . im not going to get into any details of goober and erics relationship as previously stated , but i will say eric constantly crossed goober's boundaries and had no regard for them whatsoever . eric claimed goober never established clear boundaries but they did . the boundaries in question involve copying goober's work [art , story , characters , and shit like that] and copying goober themselves [getting into things just bc of goober , using toyhouse codes just bc goober did , basing your entire personality on goober , shit like that] . goober has stated before multiple times THEY HATE PEOPLE DOING THESE THINGS as it messes with their self perception and triggers their psychosis , however eric did these things multiple times . eric also claims he never copied or stole goobers ocs but theres evidence that suggests hes lying abt this . not only this but goober has been taking screenshots against goober SINCE AROUND THE TIME THEY BROKE UP implying eric was planning to make them look bad all along and ever since then eric has seemed to have been stalking their accounts , going to pretty far lengths even jumping on goobers private twitter the moment it was briefly unprivated , which further suggests stalking has been happening as if eric knew 100% this acc was private and he couldnt view goobers tweets there , why did he go back one day ? its like he waited to see if goober would unpriv then jumped on it immediately just to get dirt on them . its super fucking weird . he also ip address blocked me and goober on toyhouse and has us blocked everywhere else tho he was logging out to check goobers profiles and has been going back for months now . he also seems to just make things Abt him and shit , like that tweet from march Abt the phm trigger has NOTHING TO DO WITH ERIC , it was literally a personal matter involving a psychotic breakdown goober had bc they have delusions relating to pretty hate machine , i was around in late march when this happened and they were literally having a psychotic breakdown involving the album at one point during this point in time like a day or so before this tweet in question , they literally vced me on discord during a breakdown and i HEARD THEM . this all was super personal and relating to their mental health issues and has nothing to do with Eric at all and i can personally confirm that .

also i do want to say that eric did straight up steal one of goober's ocs and claimed he didn't and they were just based on the same album , however comparing the ocs side by side theyre rly fucking similar ??? also goober told me that they confronted Eric want this when it happened and he told them smth abt how he imagined his oc looking like goober's oc but different implying he was still thinking abt goober's oc when making it . he also gave this oc based on the downward spiral a sexual dynamic with his pretty hate machine oc which was super similar to goober's phm and tds ocs which also have a sexual dynamic . i dont believe he rlly stole the phm oc bc they look totally different in appearance but the relationship dynamic was too similar to not be pointed out . eric also made an oc based on the nin ep "broken" who was transfem and gore themed just like goober's broken oc who is also transfem and has a gore theme . goober did say that didnt even get the gore shit from just their ocs source ep and their oc was originally just going to be a horny fuck but then they decided to do the gore shit after watching the broken film . idk if eric has even seen this film but hes never rlly talked abt it during the time period we were friends so it could be reasonably assumed he stole this idea from goober . goober's work is VERY important to them and theyve said multiple times they are nothing without it and they almost threw it all away more than once in 2022 bc of eric copying their shit and theres things that point to the fact eric knew goober's boundaries too . sadly all of this cannot be proven as eric deleted a SHIT TON OF THINGS that could prove goober's side of the story . but there does exist a side-by-side image of Eric and goober's tds ocs and their similarities and some other small things . its rlly not enough and i understand if u chose not to believe goober's side as eric does sadly have way more screenshots of their shit than we have of his shit .

too , id like to say smth abt the deadnaming claims . me and goober had zero clue eric was no longer going by his deadname . we had known him as someone who used both femme and masc nouns for so long and he did tend to take specific names out of his dn at times despite still going by them and i dont remember seeing anything that suggested he didnt want to be called by that name at all anymore , if i did i wouldve told goober as i know better not to deadname anyone . hell , everytime ive shared a screenshot relating to him that said his deadname in it , i made it a point to censor it before sending ever since i found out that was his deadname . goober also stopped saying it once they realized it was his deadname and has also censored things with that name said in them as well . goober fully understands how bad deadnaming is and is very against it . they even respect my deadname and censor it whenever and have stated before its not my name . hell , they even asked me permission before naming one of their ocs my deadname [they had no ill intentions and just liked the name and the oc has nothing to do with me anyway] bc they didnt want to make me uncomfortable and they act the same way with everyone else they know that are trans or non-binary . goober is pretty understanding and respectful and would never deadname anyone intentionally regardless of if they view them as a bad person or not . sure it was still fucked up of them to say it but they didnt know it was a deadname and meant no harm with that whatsoever . and the cartman thing wasnt meant to be transphobic against eric either , ik it seems that way bc he said his deadname then his actual name with cartman next to it but it wasnt intended like that , they didnt know it was a deadname , and the cartman thing was just a silly joke between me and them bc we thought the name eric was funny bc haha eric cartman . theyd also use this as a codename to vent and rant abt him in private as well and we didnt mean to come off as transphobic when making the cartman jokes . we actually have not called him cartman since eric wrote to us in march of this year and as of right now goober doesnt like talking abt eric at all and neither do i . recently they even said theyd stop looking at eric's social media bc the only way they were before was thru a friend of ours who used to be friends with him however this friend eventually got paranoid over him and started to not like him and was only staying in contact to see what he was up to and dmed me as early as december 2022 abt her paranoia involving eric which was actually mutual between us . she eventually decided to just block eric everywhere for the better and goober decided it would be better just to not check his profiles bc it was very paranoia inducing for them to do so . the only reason theyd still check at times and the only reason they did in the first place was bc they were paranoid over him . and honestly i was too , id literally have nightmares abt him trying to spy on us or just starting shit with goober and/or me in general bc goober means everything to me and i was so focused on trying to keep them safe at all costs i was so scared eric would do smth and id lose goober forever as they tend to want to kill themselves during incidents and during all this i saw eric as a threat to goober and their safety . and my intense hatred of him came from me just being crazy mentally ill over goober and my other partner , both of which feel super hurt by eric and ppl hurting my partners makes me violently angry . i will admit during all this i was petty at times . nothing i rlly said or posted Abt him was rlly shown in the drive besides a comment i left on a video and a lot of it was in a private group chat anyway and i do apologize for anything horrible ive said or did to him . i have very good reason to not like him all that much but i do think i couldve controlled myself better when going after him and shit . i was just so impulsively angry at him and i didnt rlly think abt the consequences of my actions . if anything goober should be more angry at him than i was and i shouldnt have acted as involved as i did .

now onto the shit with me . for some background me and eric met in february of 2022 . i met him through goober after goober invited him to my discord server on the day me and them got together . we didnt talk much until an incident broke out in may and by then we were pretty chill . our friendship wasn't the greatest but thats not the point rn . he eventually left me out of nowhere with no explanation , blocking me on every social media ever on 11/14/22 . during this time period i had a strong reaction to it . now i didnt care at first bc i had taken issues with him by then and was contemplating cutting him off [some of his behavior relating to goober post-breakup was rlly weird and it seemed like he was obsessed with them] . when i was first rlly thinking abt this i had realized he already softblocked me on twitter and what i assumed to have been him softblocking me on toyhouse tho he later confirmed he has just unsubscribed to me and unauthorized me . i had found out he has unfriended me on discord as well by 11/06/22 and the softblocking and unfollowing/unauthorizing happening prior to that date and all this followed up to him hardblocking me everywhere forever as if he was planning on leaving me and was only building up to that point . i was excited to no longer be in what i called a "one-sided friendship" as i was beginning to not like him as a person but at the same time part of it still hurt me enough to set off an overreaction on my part . i did send eric these goofy ass nonsense anonymous tumblr asks just to fuck with him and i even showed one of my [now ex] friends this as it was going on and he asked me for his tumblr so he could send in a message too . i also raged on him in a gc and in that no longer friends dms , insulted him , threatened him , and made a meme that said "buy the thneed noose , Eris" or smth like that [Eris being the name he went by before Eric . it's not a deadname or anything tho . Dont worry] . this was SUPER AWFUL and IMMATURE of me . it doesnt matter how much i dont like an ex friend , i had NO RIGHT to harass him and go behind his back and threaten him like that and i take full accountability for this . id understand more if he abused or traumatized me but he didnt , i just didnt like him bc of the goober shit that i had ZERO part in and going after him was super petty and horrible of me and i wont even defend myself on this . part of my emotional reaction mightve had to do with the fact i had a crush on him prior [it only dying out a month before he blocked me everywhere] but idk . either way it was wrong and i dont condone what I did in november [also want to say that goober took no part in this and literally hated that i did that and had a breakdown that same day after someone confronted me abt it] . the codes thing from march was also super petty of me too . and eric was right , i was getting back at him for using codes bc of goober , and that was petty of me . doing the same thing i hated him for doing made me no better than him and i did change my toyhouse code recently and said i was done stealing codes from eric on an instagram story post .

now onto the valentine account , ill let it be your choice if you believe me or not bc even goober and our friend i mentioned earlier asked me if i was sure it wasnt me and its not . i understand if u dont believe me but rly it isnt . there isnt even much similarities in the art styles either , i mean sure the lps cat drawing and porridge bunny drawing both have big round eyes with more than 2 eyelashes but thats bc i tend to draw most lps' with bigger eyes to combine my style and the lps style together , the cat only has two eyelashes , but i did notice the porridge bunny has three so with the eyes on that one , theyre bigger bc sometimes i draw eyes bigger or smaller depending on the facial expression and style of drawing and three eyelashes is simply bc the character i was drawing was one of goober's ocs as a bunny and their oc has three eyelashes . i dont rly see many other similarities besides that , i mean porridge bunny has a heart-shaped nose like the valentine fursona but thats bc the oc i turned into a bunny has a heart motif and i was incorporating hearts into the design as much as i could . i dont have any words on the lps bunny thing either . honestly besides this im drawing a total blank as to why eric thought this art was at all comparable to valentines art . like is it bc two of the characters are cutesy pink furries ? bc theyre literally lps' LMAO . is it because they have a zigzag thing above the nose ? bc goober DOES THAT TOO BUT THEYRE NOT VALENTINE ? like ??? . and even then i dont see how the wings in the post valentine drawing shown are similar to how i draw wings , they seem more detailed in a way and have more feathers shown and no examples of how i draw wings normally were shown as example anyway . i do think the acc being newer and having little followers is a bit odd , but it could just be a normal small account . it doesnt always have to point to someone stalking someone else . and i do get erics paranoia and all but i feel like he just went "oh theres like one or two similarities between these peoples art and its a small acc so it must be kenny" then just went with his assumption without providing valid proof we were the same person then showed it all the world as if it was confirmed to be 100% fact . ive has similar things happen to me before and it fucked with me so badly . i genuinely hate being accused of things i didnt do and like idk its just . Ugh . i genuinely wouldnt put in the effort to make up a fake persona to talk to eric . i know i said smth abt needing him to be my friend again in my email but i also said i was fine if not and this was all impulsive and said during a relapse where i felt super vulnerable and was also going to get back in contact with all my ex friends and even those who have traumatized me in an attempt to slowly ruin my life until i killed myself . i was not in a good mindset at all , but i still had my partners post relapse and i wouldnt put in effort to chase after him like that . everytime i went after eric directly , goober had confronted me and seemed disappointed in me and honestly i would never pull a stunt like that bc i dont want to upset goober or my other partner . also i did say earlier i did have a crush on him once , but that was

from august 2022 - october 2022 and i never had feelings for him ever again after that . my crush on him in 2022 was a bit obsessive but i chose to keep it private as to not make him uncomfortable . and honestly being obsessed with him as of right now isnt anything id do . i would not have it in me to fake it , no offense to him but i think id feel too disgusted even pretending to be obsessed with him . my emails back to him after the relapse did seem like obsessive stalker behavior , but thats bc i was getting over everything still and i had been having dreams abt him that were fucking me up at the time , i tend to get reality mixed up with what isnt reality and vise versa and i kept having false beliefs relating to him [believing we were still close , believing he sent me a frq on discord , and also believing he was my ex once even tho WE LITERALLY NEVER DATED . he only has one ex and thats goober , and shit like that] and my perception of things was getting so fucked . there was also an incident before i even emailed him where i thought abt convincing him to be my friend again bc i felt like no one cared abt me and i was convincing myself my partners didnt love me anymore and no one else cared abt me and i even set up to cut all my friends off on 10/17/23 and almost went thru with it , and looking back at my past friendship with eric i felt like he didnt even care abt me then and it was all just an act and in my mind id rather have someone who pretends to care than someone who doesnt bc i genuinely believe he only pretended to care abt me and i genuinely believed no one cared for me then and honesty it just got so shitty and messy from there in short , me and goober arent as awful as we seem . yes , we fucked up , but we're not as evil and heartless as eric makes us out to be , and erics not completely innocent either .

if youre friends or moots with him , idc . im not going to turn you against him or shit on you for having a friend , which is the main reason ive been holding off on cutting ppl off who are moots or friends with him bc i dont wish to control who ppl are friends with , if hes a good friend to you and if he makes you happy , im glad and i want you to have a good friendship with him . i just want to explain shit , thats all . i dont think hes this evil after manipulative monster nor do i believe he abused goober in anyway , just bc i still take some issues with him , doesnt mean i want you to see this and think any differently abt me . i am entitled to my own opinion based on my experience with him and my partners experiences with him just as you are entitled to your opinion on him . if you think he's a fucking awesome and sweet person , thats great . just dont take everything he says as gospel ig . and if u do and dont wish to associate with me or my partners , thats cool too . just be reasonable abt it , okay ?